Operations against Zituri Kurds now completed and as far as possible punishment for murders exacted. Civil administration restored and our prestige vindicated. Casualties trivial. I am withdrawing troops to Mosul leaving post near Agra to support civil officers. Health of troops good, country as usual very difficult. The force consisted of two columns, one from Amadia, one from Mosul via Hora. Total four Indian battalions, Mountain battery and three Companies of Assyrians.

connection with operations in Central Armenia on August 22nd one of our aeroplanes having lost direction over hills in mistake for objective on Enzetur dropped bombs on Bilegum.

Protests from commander of Turkish 15th Corps, not by Second Division, dated August 30th were received at ZAKHOON September 3rd. A Divisional Commander at once despatched to 15th Corps by the T.R.A.F. T and brought latter's communication, a letter regretting mistake. My regrets and intimation of action taken to Constantinople were wired on September 4th to 15th Corps Commander. Subsequent inquiries intimated that Turkish commander's statement to effect that casualties had been caused were incorrect.

From G.O.C.-In-C., Mosul Division.
To War Office, repeated below.

Date 18th Dec 1915.
Place: Kukluk 10 miles N.E. of Mosul.

Xmas 7th. Several hundred Goyan Kurds appeared and took post on Goyan (1 grg. above,) our position in withdrawal from Shatpur valley referred to in my telegram of 6th was about to commence.

Goyan Kurds are the only prominent tribe left in this area and occupy almost inaccessible villages along the roadside and have joined in all attacks on us. It was they who killed and buried 200 men. Pursue the political officer to impede their main rally in Kukluk last.

As only chance of a quiet time now offered so far as necessary when I decided to proceed against the northern fortifications and garrison areas 10 miles into Kukluk to-day.

With this object the 1st cavalry and the 2nd and 3rd battalions and after several days difficult march by night in which many lost considerably our troops assisted by Maxim occupied Kukluk meeting opposition and delaying difficulties.

Our casualties not serious except 10 killed. I report two officers and five other ranks killed.

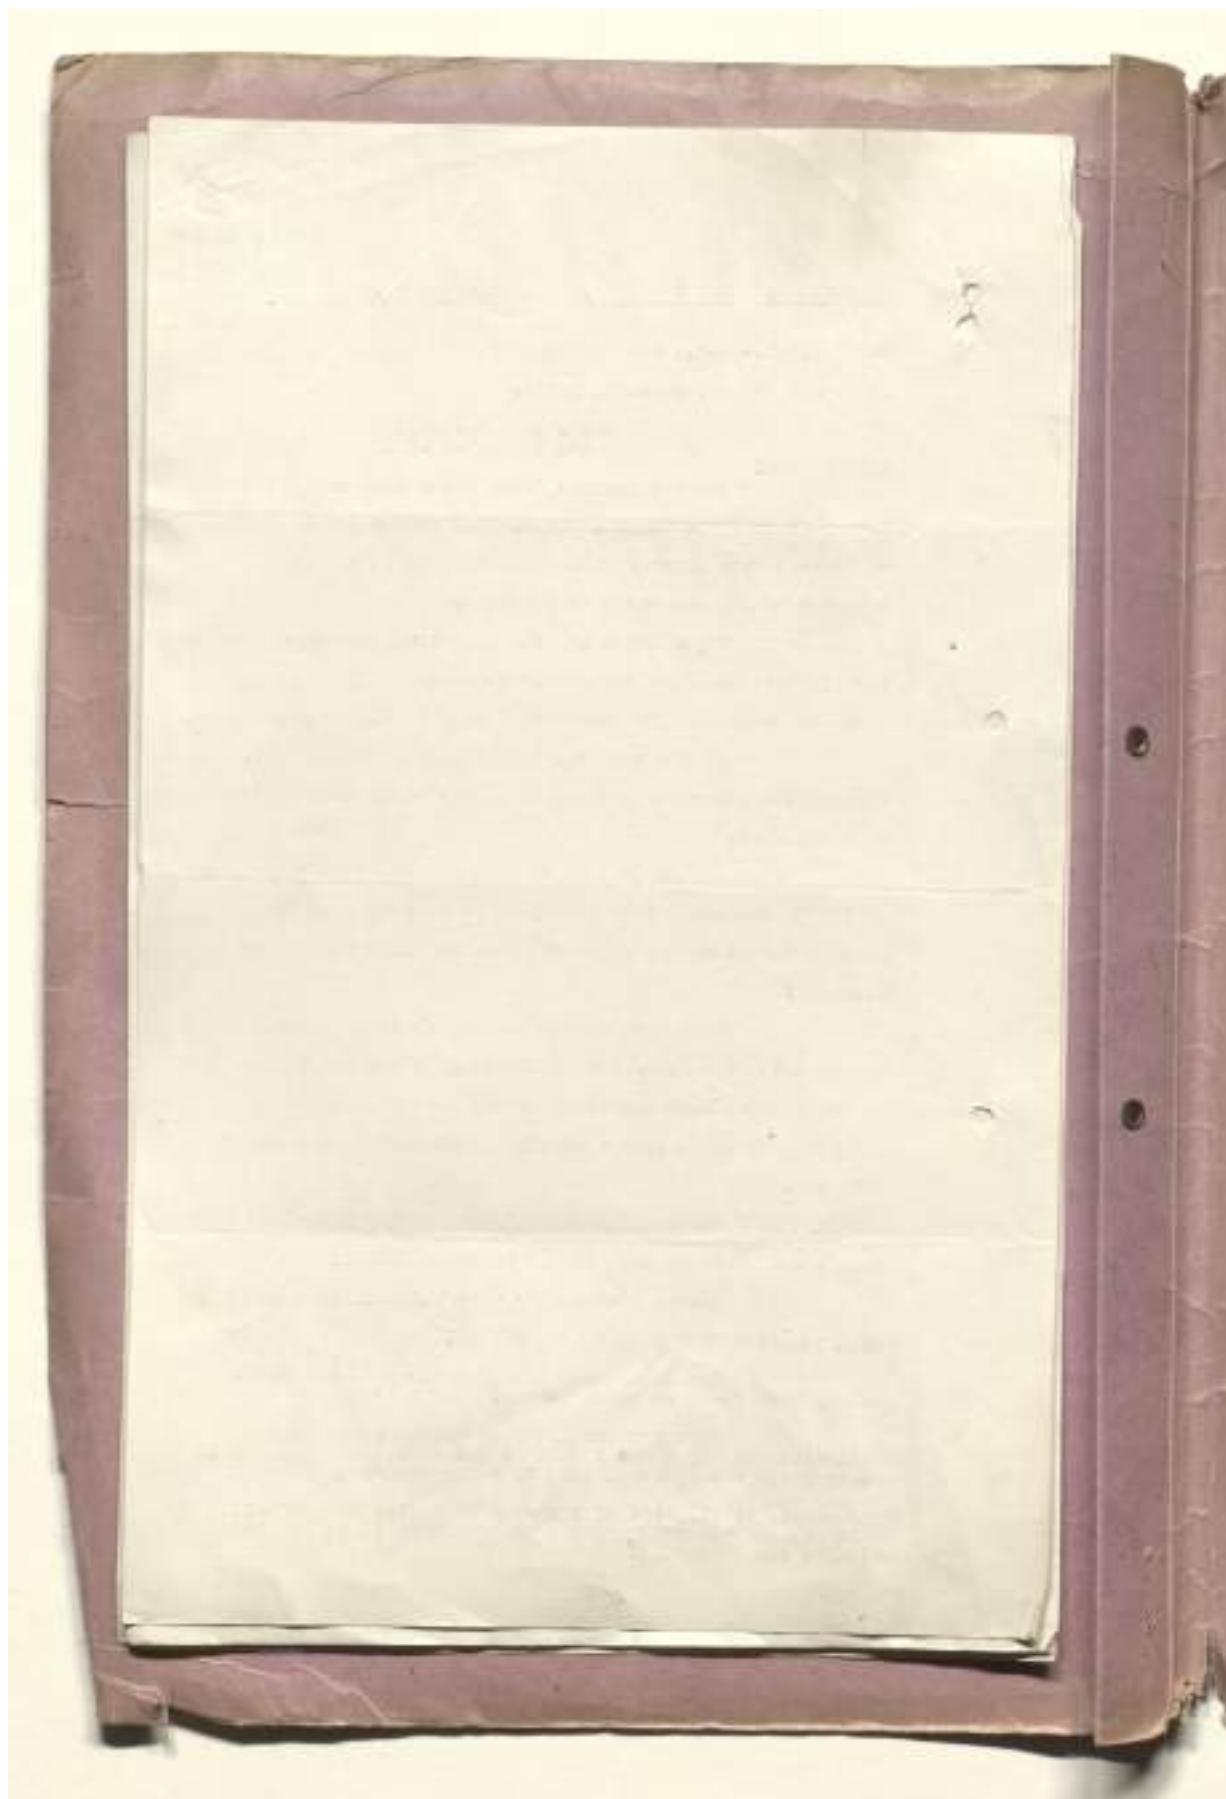

Troops now 6th. Completely well in order only required to complete during night.

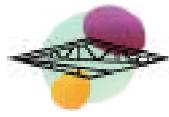

Troops are now 11th. I think on this point on my look for a peaceful border.

Southern Kurdish troops in Kukluk 10 miles returning and the force I left at Sulaiman Pash will be sent to them being established in being either on a hill attachment of all arms will remain on certain points 10 miles west of Sulaiman Pash for the winter where it is usually highest and supported.

In South in Kurdistan all quiet.

In Kanta plain forces well received and still remain quietly.

Central Kurdistan. All the fastnesses up to the armistice line north of Zakho and Amuda have been visited and their complete accessibility to our troops demonstrated.

Several skirmishes with hostile sections have already resulted in loss to us with trivial casualties to ourselves.

Considerable number rifles have been seized and repatriation started but tribes too anxious to sustain severe blow.

Traces hitherto abstaining from joining rising have remained silent.

EXCERPT A

Yours. (Y private.) See Egypt force telegram L.A. 3027, cypher, August 25th, to our office regarding political responsibilities in Palestine.

and is on his way to Van and Niles to investigate conditions in that direction. He will probably return via Constantinople and then go home. If it is not desired that I should replace him, I should be glad of early information.

I have no wish to instrumentalise Egypt force, but Kurdish problems deserve treatment as a whole and I expect handling of them at always during the past year as unfortunate, owing mainly to absence of any external political authority there at all until June last and to absence of any officers with knowledge of Kurds and their language.

Commanders of British detachments at Urfa and elsewhere without political officers or knowledge of local conditions tend to fall under influence of Armenian interpreters and priests, various missionaries and others who are not safe guides.

REICHSTAG.
X.1915 August 25th.
All quiet in West Kurdistan.
Central Kurdistan. Operations still in progress by the columns containing two and a half battalions each. Results of these encounters. Tribal centres within existing tribal areas of those implicated in ANAPOLIS interests have been visited. Sharp engagements with Kurds. None inflicted less on them with trivial loss to ourselves. They are very well armed. During advance of the column a party of 3,000 Kurds descended in double file and attacking our advanced (IL group) (skipped) in the hills at SUKKA, and after one hour's fighting were repulsed. Hoped in a series of visits to complete operations, restore peace, and, in accordance with plan under discussion between the Civil Commissioner and General COOKE, prepare arrangements for reparation of Assyrian interests. Prompt action against those offending tribes has elicited recognition of their treachery and as it (more uncertainly) movement of troops has dispelled widespread belief that anyone could do us no harm and that we had no real life in country.

OPERATION. 8.30 AM 3.

From G.O.C. Mesopotamia.
Re: War Office repeated India.
7.7541 August 13th. Reference your 20068 8.0.2, July 26th.
Reply has been delayed till Major Boel returned from his Mission into Diarbekir and other districts. It is necessary to make certain assumptions before framing my views and I make the following. Government by British High Commission or Deputy High Commission as executive authority with Kurdish Council and Ministers, and Kurdish Governors of provinces with British personnel stiffening departments. (1 group under,) external encies other than brigades. An efficient striking force is necessary pending formation of reliable Kurdish gendarmerie and military force under British inspectors to make the spirit of Kurdish executive run in the land. A mountainous country full of petty chiefs with well armed retainers and tribesmen always in trouble with the Government and with little national spirit or sense of combination for general good, under present circumstances. British and picked Indian troops well equipped for mountain warfare will be necessary until this spirit can be developed. This force will have its root base in Mesopotamia though doubtless it can be fed locally and supplied from Mediterranean ports via Vanishin. It is assumed that Kurdistan will consist of Van Bitlis Diarbekir and al axis Vilayets with some modification of present boundaries to suit Armenian adjustment. These vilayets are almost entirely Kurdish. Following minimum forces: Cavalry brigades and horse artillery in Diarbekir province. 4 mountain brigades of all arms of consisting Infantry brigade, mountain battery, mountain squadron and engines company stationed in Maras, Diarbekir and Bitlis Vilayets, with 4th Brigade in Bitlis or Van. Army troops to be

"الاضطرابات في شمال بلاد الرافدين (الأكراد)" [ظ] (٢٠٦٥٠) (٢)

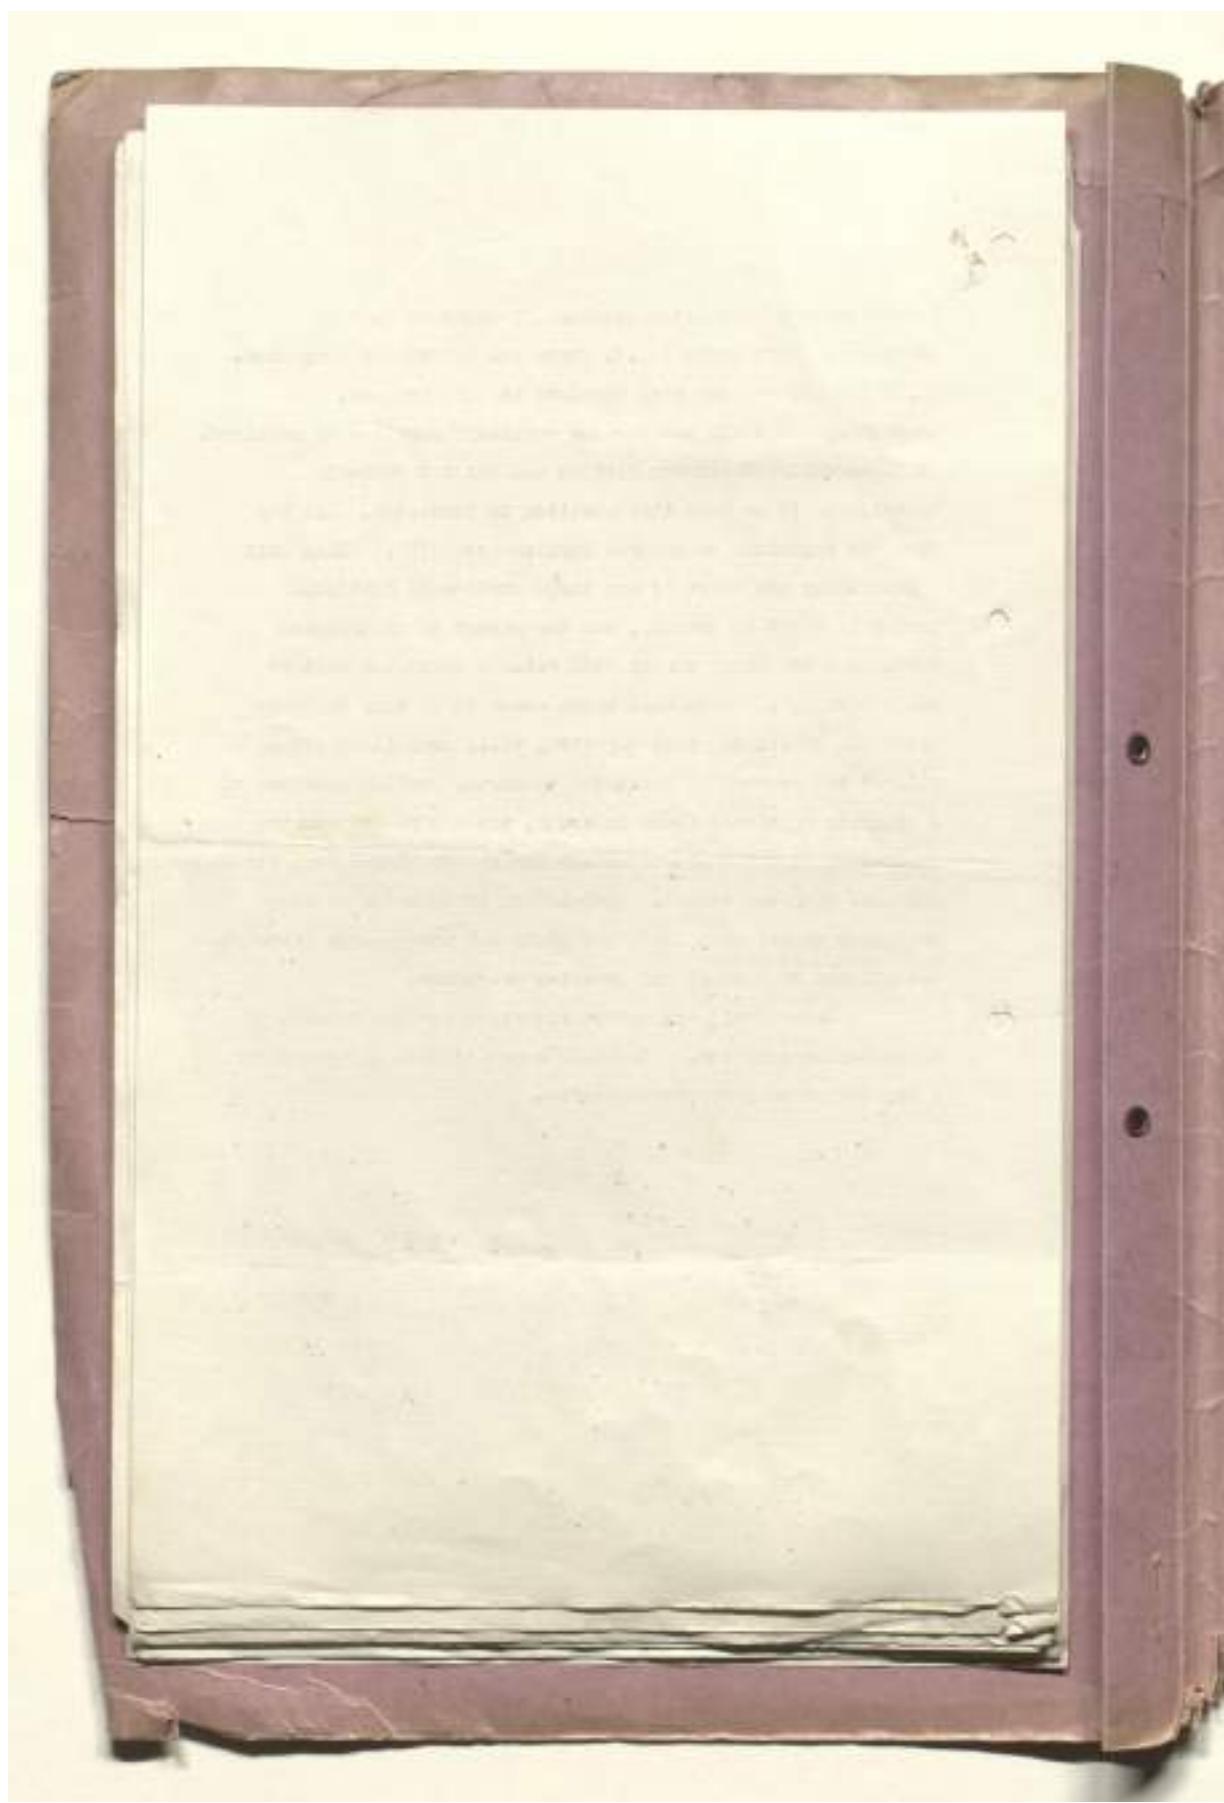

troops to be 2 battalions pioneers, 1 mountain battery artillery, transport 4 A.C. Corps and 6 Field Art Companies.
A field ambulance and pack animals to each brigades.
Stationary hospitals and various ancillary services as required.
Complete railroad between Hizibin and Baiji & probably unavoidable if we hold this position in Kurdistan. All the above is dependent on general Kurdish good will. This will emphatically not exist if any large portion of Kurdistan grazer is added to Armenia, and the report of an Armenian settlement now being spread will raise a Kurdistan that no one can manage. From here there seems to be only one main principle of solving this question, viz., Armenian provinces vilyoet of Erzerum and Trebizond in north, Kurdish provinces of & vilyoets mentioned above in south, those parts of country where population is mixed Armenians and Kurds being under even stronger guidance than the others. Population in these areas to be gradually transferred north and south and homogeneous districts established in Kurdish and Armenian provinces.

Above would not permit reduction for the present of Mesopotamia garrison. Separate consideration is needed for any defensive force requirements.

Operations in Central Kurdistan. After surprise of enemy on August 1st operating about evening for several days (2 groups undecipherable). Amadia, surprised and (7 word omitted) some murders of British officers and Christian gendarmes captured with certain hostile notables. Hills north of Amadia cleared of enemy with definite loss to them but isolated companies in gorge during this operation attacked and lost heavily. In occupied districts order being restored and Christians protected. Health of troops very good. Hostility of tribes here and of rebel chiefs in southern Kurdistan rising due undoubtedly to Turkish C.U.P. influence as the tribes themselves well know our intention to foster a settlement in accordance with Kurdish sentiment. Another cause of unrest is apprehension of subjection to Armenians. Southern Kurdistan. As too inaccessible to protect have evacuated civil station in Rovanduz and am sending force to visit the Rania plain to support civil officer and friendly chiefs there. A detachment of the garrison in Southern Kurdistan attacked in gorge by birds from Persian border extricated itself well inflicting loss on enemy. Advancement of railroad to Shergat is simplifying problem of maintenance. In plains temperature 118 degrees to 119.

all over Akkra and at the same time were also seen at the front. Your authority to the Director General and to each of the Commandants General and their staffs and other officials, and the members of subordinate units including all members of headquarters of your force of troops should now give them full freedom. An additional memorandum DIME/2148 (2.1.48) giving instructions on this subject will be sent to you.

August, 1919.

With reference to your letter No. 10147/1919, etc. dated the 2nd July, 1919, to the Director of Military Intelligence, regarding the removal of Kurdish affairs, I am instructed by the Army Council to invite your attention to the Civil Council Interim's telegram No. 1002 dated the 13th June, 1919, with particular regard to paragraphs 3 and 10, and No. 1043 dated the 21st July, 1919, copies of which are attached for your guidance of reference.

I am to remind you that disturbances in Kurdistan first manifested themselves amongst the Kurds and resulted in the murder of a British officer near Dara on 4th April, the perpetrators of which it has not been possible to punish.
Greece and Russia have seen the local sources of trouble but there is little doubt that it was engineered from Constantinople.

Upon the middle of April, Major Paul reported that the anti-British movement in the Mardin-Dara area had little foundation, except fear of Armenian rule and pointed out that a definite British policy was required.

On 15th May Admiral Collymore reported that unsatisfactory reports were being received regarding the DIME and reiterated his opinion that the main cause of agitation was the fear of falling under Armenian rule.

On 16th May, Colonel Wilson wired that British Tarsus had agreed to be satisfied that Kurdistan would not be placed under Armenian or Assyrian rule.

On 17th May Sir Percy Cox reported that great consternation had been caused in Van by a report that the British and Persian Governments would restore Armenia to the Van district.

On 18th May it was reported from Constantinople that the inhabitants of Dara had expressed their wish to the Grand Vizier to remain under Turkish rule.

General Niedau's rising which started in the latter part of May had been suppressed and General Niedau's forces occupied the situation in Southern Kurdistan is now satisfactory.

The situation in the Ermenye district however is still very far from satisfactory and the Army Council consider it impossible to commit General Niedau's force by extracting a portion of our troops from the commandant his forces, as has been suggested.

Troubles have now also broken out in the Kurdish areas in central Kurdistan.

The Army Council are of opinion that here, as in other districts, the Kurds are largely influenced by the fear of future domination by Armenia and the possibility which they suspect is being shown to Christianity in general as evidenced by the Greek hunting at Bagras, and that this fear renders them susceptible to anti-Christian propaganda.

On the future settlement of the Kurds in a matter affecting our garrisons in the Near East, the Army Council consider that in the interests of our commands and of our representatives in Paris, the time has not arrived when His Majesty's Government should consider and decide on a definite policy in respect of the Kurds and the future arrangements for the administration in those Kurdish areas in which His Majesty's Government may be interested. I am therefore to suggest that a meeting of the Eastern Committee be called soon to discuss the question at an early date before General Clayton returns to Egypt. In the meantime Field Marshal Sir W. Allfrey has been asked to telegraph his views regarding the instructions given to the Civil Commissioner, Baghdad, by the Secretary of State for India in his telegram No. 74806 dated the 1st Aug., 1919.

A copy of this letter has been sent to the India Office with reference to their letter No. 3804 dated the 1st July.

I am,

Sir,

Your obedient servant,

The Under Secretary of State,

Foreign Office;

London, 10th August, 1919.

"الاضطرابات في شمال بلاد الرافدين (الأكراد)" [٣١ و ٦٦] (٢٠٦)

(F. 420.1.) From Political Register 31st July, 1919.

(Reported to Constantinople, Teheran, Tahriz, and encloses by post to India.)

(Enclosed list, D.P.M.)

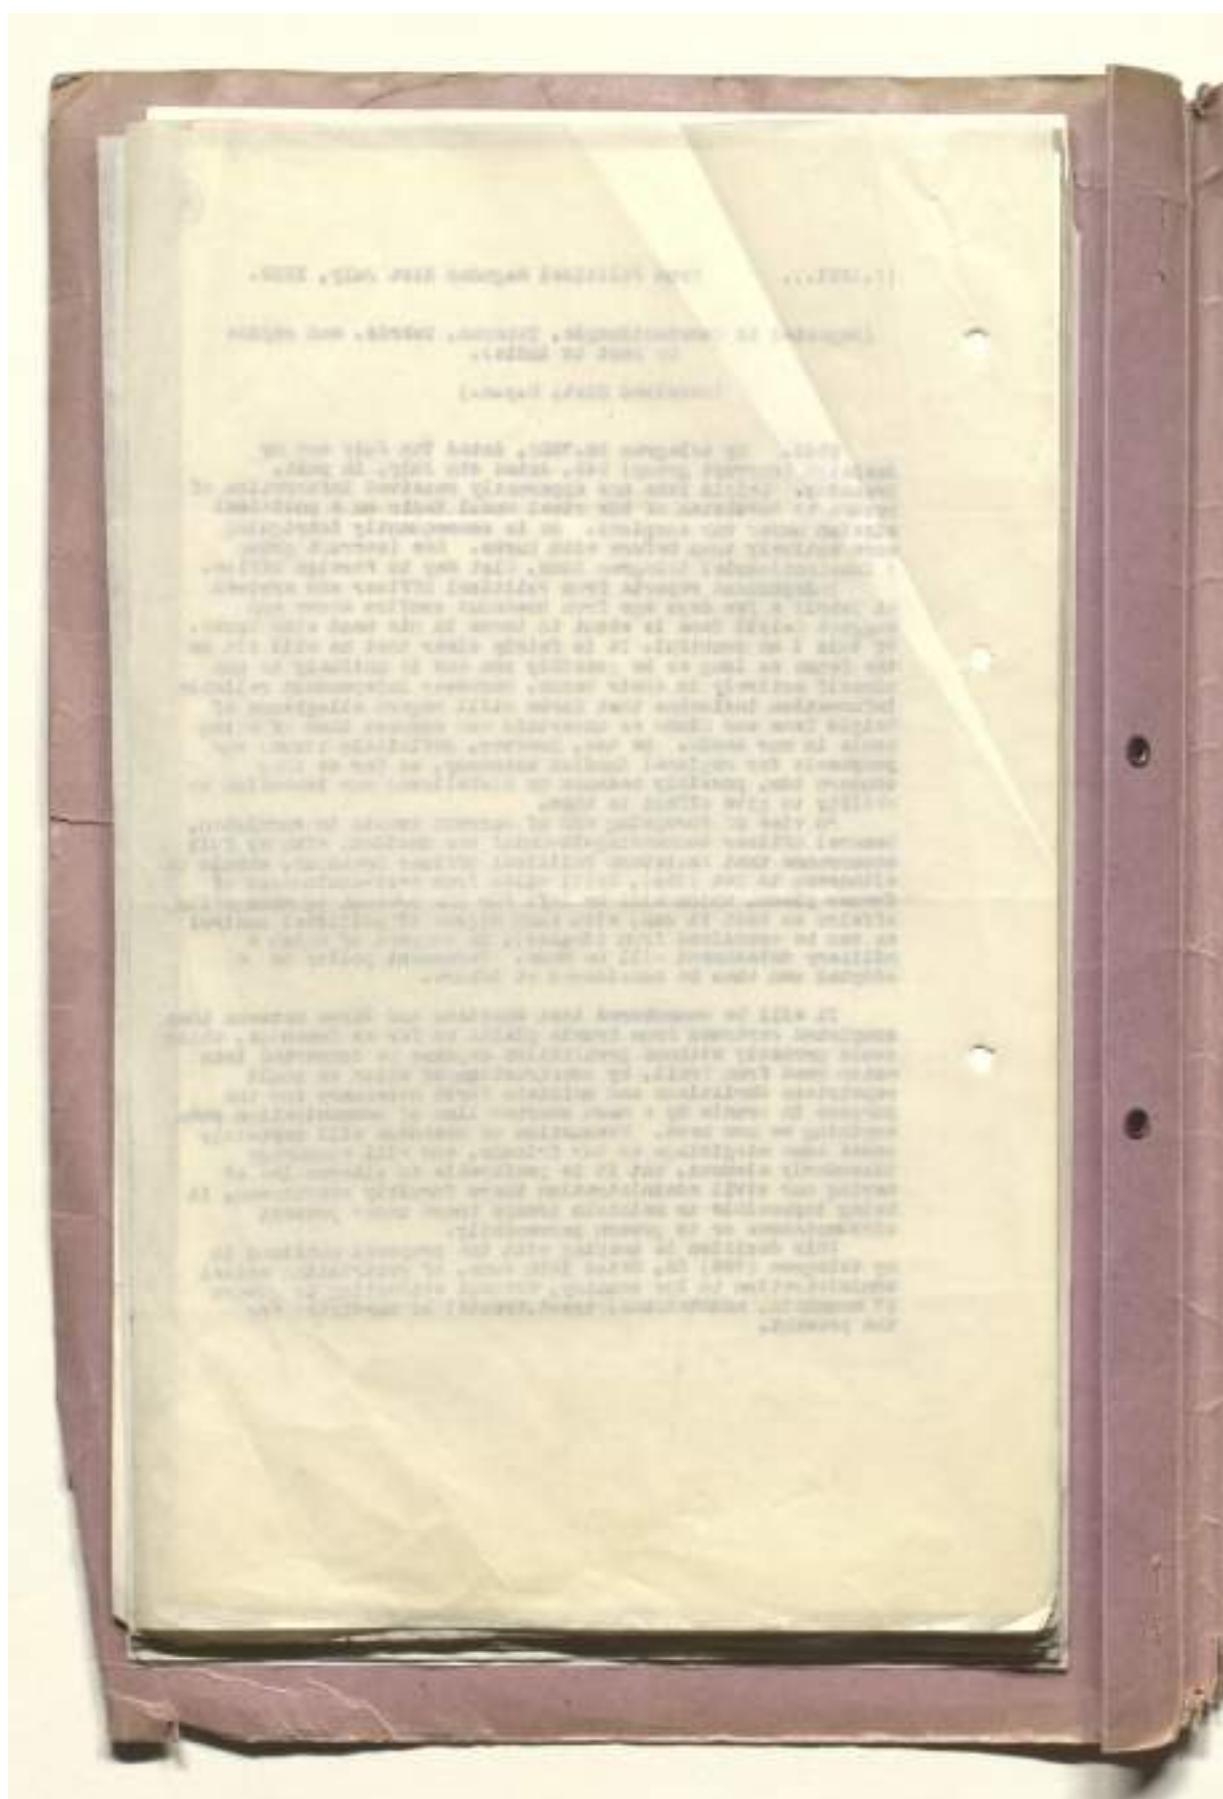

5545. By telegram No. 7000, dated 7th July and my despatch (enclosed) 645, dated 4th July, in post, General Nelyid Jarr has apparently received information of return to Kurdistan of his rival Abdurrahim a political chief under our auspices. He is consequently intriguing more actively than before with Durru. See encircled group (Constantinople) telegram 1000, 31st May to Foreign Office.
Independent reports from military officers who arrived at Teheran a few days ago from Mesopotamia confirm above and suggest Nelyid Jarr is about to throw in his hand with Durru.
Or this I am doubtful. It is fairly clear that he will sit on the fence as long as he possibly can and is unlikely to put himself entirely in their hands. Moreover independent reliable information indicates that Durru still regards allegiance of Nelyid Jarr and Rizk as uncertain and suspect them of being tools in our hands. He has, however, definitely (tent.) our proposals for regional Kurdish autonomy, so far as they concern him, possibly because he disbelieved our intentions or ability to give effect to them.
In view of foregoing and of current events in Kurdistan, General Officer Commanding-in-Chief has decided, with my full agreement that Assistant Political Officer however, should be withdrawn to set (Yazd), 80(?) miles from west-south-west of former place, which will be left for the present to manage its affairs as best it can, with such degree of political control as can be exercised from (Tehran), in support of which a military detachment will be made. Current policy is adopted and then be considered at leisure.

It will be remembered that Russians and Persians between them constructed roads from Urmia plains as far as Kermanshah, which could probably without excessive expense be converted into motor road from Teheran, by construction of which we could restrict Christians and certain tribes necessary for the purposes in Kurdistan by a much shorter line of communication than anything we now have. Transmigration of Kermanshah will certainly cause some misgivings to our friends, and will encourage disorderly element, but it is preferable to alternatives of leaving our civil administration there hopelessly overthrown, it being impossible to maintain troops there under present circumstances or to govern permanently.

This decision is in keeping with the proposal outlined in my telegram (700) 66, dated 10th June, of restricting actual administration to low country, without attempting to govern (mountain, mountain inter) tract, tracts of Kurdistan for the present.

From Political, Baghdad, 13th June 1919.

(Reported Cairo, Constantinople, Swinton and by post to Foreign, India).

No. 6006.

Copy to General Officer Commanding, Baghdad, who has seen before despatch) (Received 14th June 1919, p.m.)

BAGHDAD, reference to your telegram of 8th June and your telegram of 1st May, which latter was duly repeated to me by Government of India on 10th June. I find it most difficult to reply thereto.

1. The ethnographical map of Eastern Turkestan in Asia as issued by War Office 204000, published by Royal Geographical Society, shows what areas are predominantly Kurdish, and is remarkably accurate. This map illustrates forcibly the difficulties of the problem.

2. The (group tribes) must presumably form the eastern limits of areas to be regarded as predominantly Kurdish.

For economic and for strategic reasons, and in order to secure to Iraq state the advantage of a mountain trunk, well wooded and capable of great development, it is desirable to include Kalmamian, Dara, and Sul Danjak, within limits of independent administration.

Irbil is an integral part of Mosul Vilayet, and when I visited the town by airship on 8th June, leading inhabitants were anxious in their expressions of dismay at the mere prospect of being included in Kurdistan. Irbil, moreover, is on one of the main railway alignments to Mosul, and line may well be extended to Kurdistan.

Dara and Sul Danjak must also be regarded as within despatch but not annex.

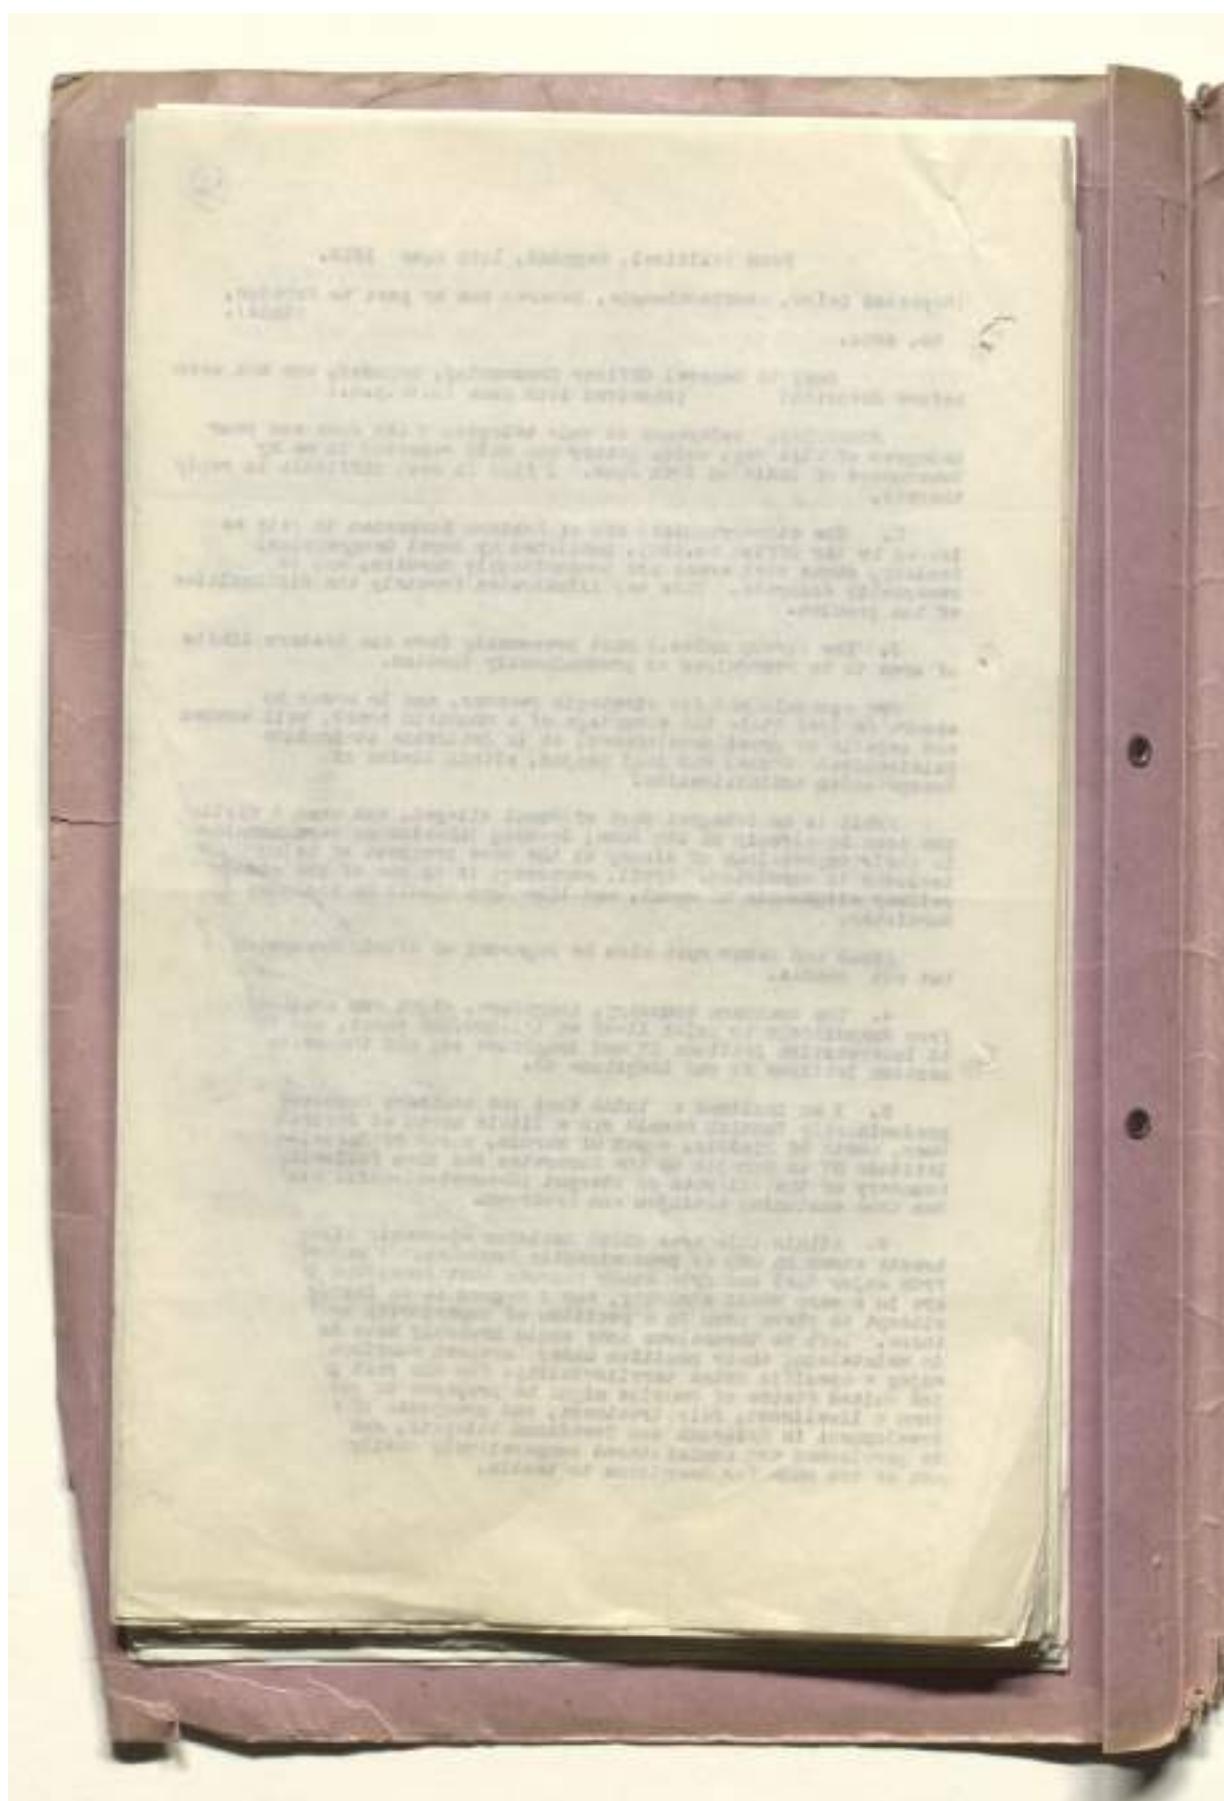

3. The southern boundary, therefore, might run roughly from Khuzistan to point 33-55 on 41°40' E. about, and thence to intersection latitudes 37 and longitude 44, and thence to section latitude 37 and longitude 45.

4. I am inclined to think that the southern boundary predominantly Kurdish should run a little north of Dara, i.e., north of Sul Danjak, south of Dara, north of Mosul; latitude 37 to Dara; thence up the Tigris and then following boundary of the Vilayets of Sharqat (Kirmukh-Kurdish) and Van thus enclosing Erzurum and Erzrum.

5. Within this area which includes Diyarbakir Vilayet towns shown on map as predominantly Armenian, I understand from Major Spill and from other sources that Armenian P. are in a very small minority, and I regard it as imprudent to place them in a position of superiority or power. Left to themselves they would probably have no difficulty in maintaining their position under European suzerainty and enjoy a specific native territoriality. For the rest the United States of America might be prepared to give them a livelihood, fair treatment, and prospects of development in Erzrum and Trabzon Vilayets, and be guaranteed and administered cooperatively mostly by the two main foreign communities to reside.

"الاضطرابات في شمال بلاد الرافدين (الأكراد)" [٣٣ و ٦٥] (٢٠٦/٦٥)

٧. Kurdistan is split up into two groups, the pro-Burdian party who under sultanic management might be pro-British and pro-Turkish party who are fanatically inclined anti-Kurdistan and anti-Turkish. Either party could obtain effective control of the country with some extensive support and we have to choose between them. If, however, Kurdish authority is re-established in Armenia Kurdistan the idea of Burdian and Armenian States falls to the ground.

٨. Armenians and Circassians are small and strong as the national feeling is they are so scattered and geographically so split up by mountain ranges that it is impossible to see that they can be united except under a strong foreign administration with its centre at Artvin or Van and based on Armenian feeling in Middle East owing partly to current Greek and Italian action at present definitely amounting unavoidable to any acceptance of the吐ing of Christian Powers, but is more likely to accept British guidance than that of any other Power.

Action on the spot cannot for much longer be confined to collecting information and conveying vague assurances to one side or the other. It is from a legal point of view necessary that a decision regarding policy should be reached... instructions issued by you.

٩. The foregoing proposals may be briefly summarized.
Tributary and Tributary Vilayets to form a single Armenian state under predominantly Armenian subjects. The remaining four Vilayets to form a Kurdish State under predominantly Turkish subjects. Mosul Baghdad and Diarbekir Vilayets to form an Arab state likewise under British subjects. The only alternative if I can see to this scheme is the re-establishment of Kurdish authority over all six Vilayets under some form of European supervision.

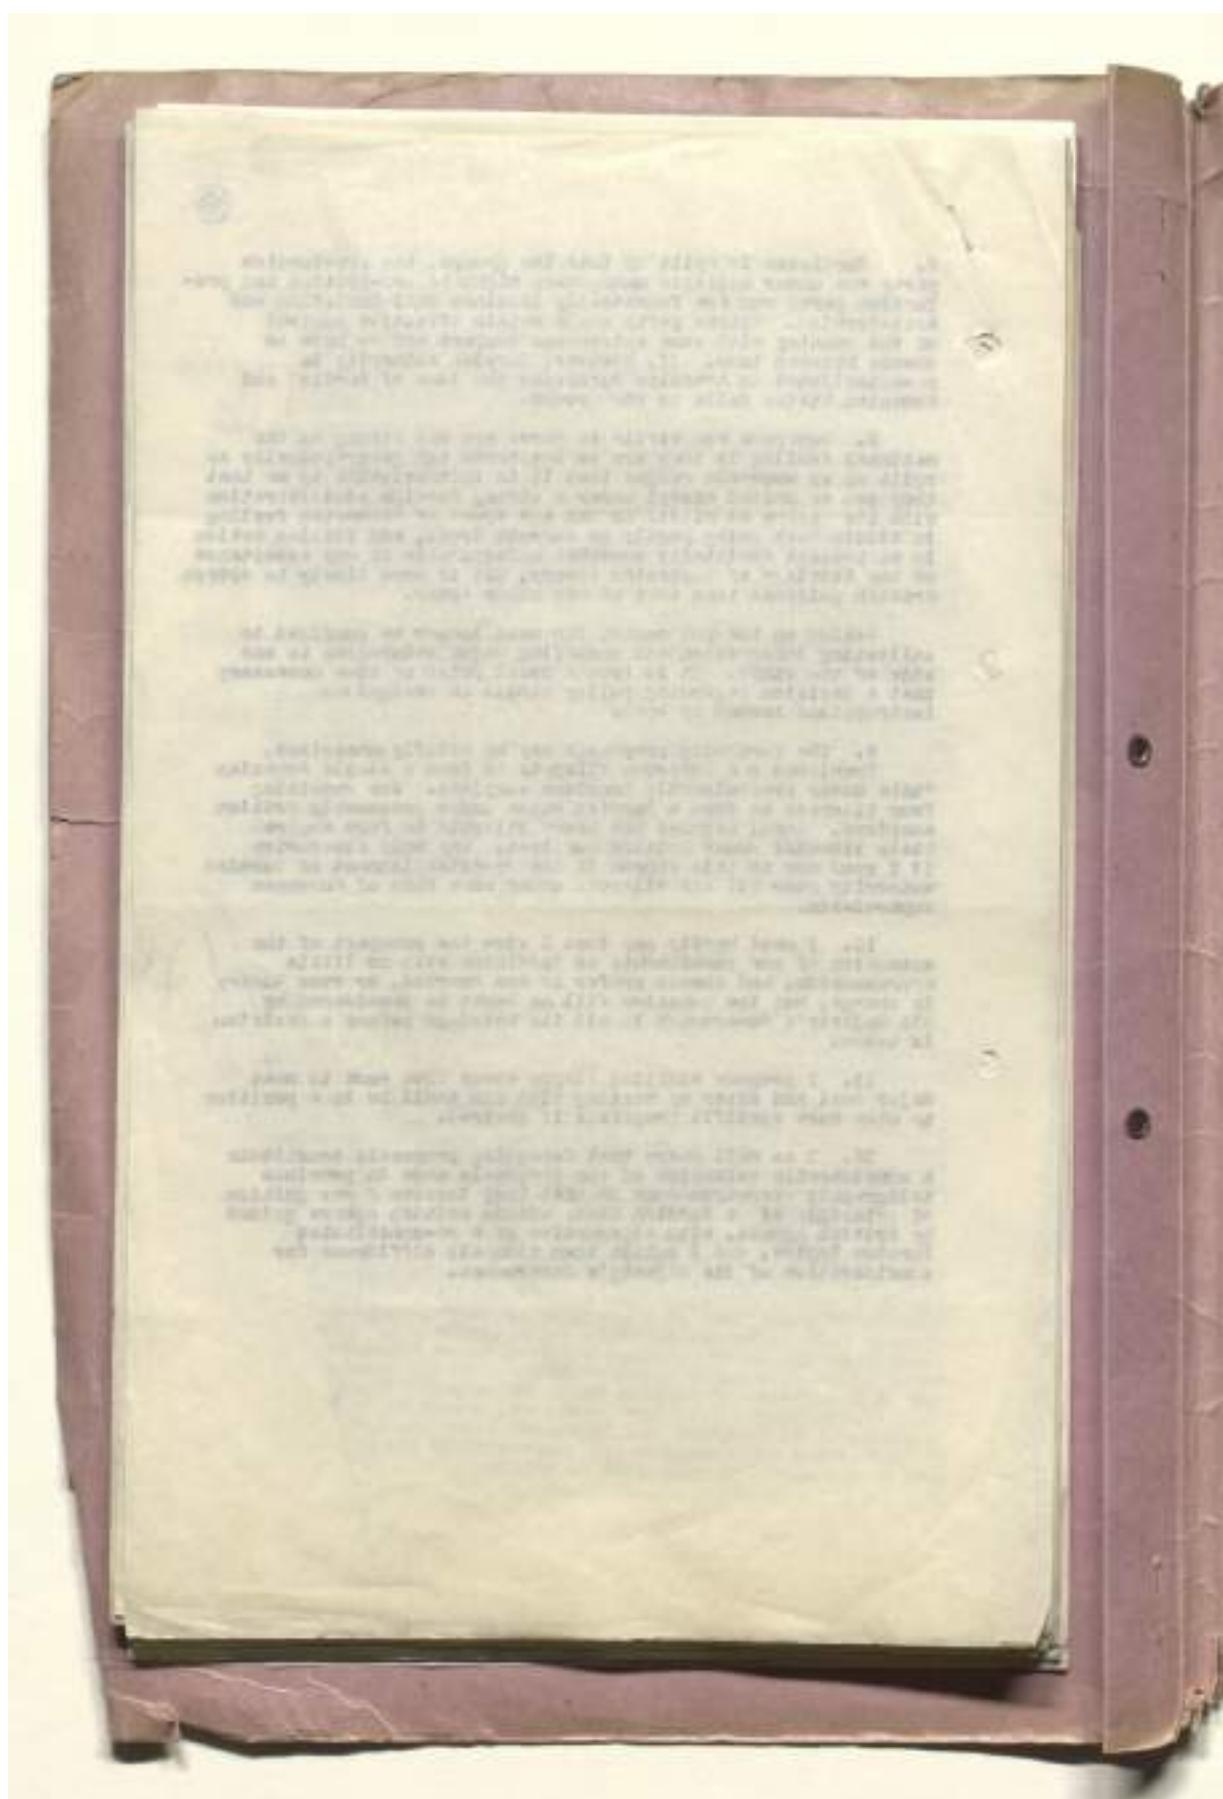

١٠. I need hardly say that I view the prospect of the extension of our commitments to Kurdistan with no little apprehension, and should prefer to use Russia, or even Turkey in charge, but the question will no doubt be considered by His Majesty's Government in all its bearings before a decision is taken.

١١. I propose visiting Aleppo about 10th June to meet Major Dow and after my meeting with him shall be in a position to make more specific proposals if desired.

١٢. I am well aware that foregoing proposals constitute a considerable extension of the proposals made in previous telegraphic correspondence in that they involve a re-uniting of principles of a Kurdish state within British sphere guided by British agents, with alternative of a re-constituted Turkish Empire, and I submit them with all assurance for consideration of His Majesty's Government.

Following situation in southern and central Kurdistan.

Southern native levies. (2 groups under-led by portion of force) in two columns traversing hitherto virgin recesses of Kurn Dagh, the head of the Hamadan Kards; and Sheikh Mahmuds following. arms have been seized, certain offenders arrested and provisional civil government has now been fully restored. Cultivators and traders are protected. One British remains temporarily in occupation: garrisons are being reorganized on better footing. Reinforcement road-making by engineers and prisoners is in progress.

Central Kurdistan rising has remained confined to hill tribes between Greater Zab and Tigris, but unlike southern Kurdistan was accompanied by unprovoked murder of isolated British officers and (1 group) civilian community. Tribesmen involved and in vicinity total 8,000 rifles. Concentration and organization of communities was completed by July 31st. Forces will total about two brigades. After difficult night marching in mountains on morning of August 1st leading troops surrounded every village several hours including important leaders in (1 group) were captured.

(P. 4330)

From Baghdad, 21st July 1919.

(Despatch Roads, Cairo, Constantinople, Teheran. Copy to General, Baghdad, who has seen before despatch.)

(Received 6 p.m., 28th.)

8167. See General, Baghdad, telegram X. 7240, dated 18th July, reporting the murder of two British sergeants and two Indian telegraphists at Amadia on evening of 14th July.

1. I visited Mosul yesterday to confer with General Officer Commanding, Mosul, and Political Officer on political aspect of outbreak.

2. It is clear that outbreak was not connected with the personalities of the two incorrigible officers. Capt. Weller had only just arrived there and was an experienced and capable officer. Capt. McDonald, who was in charge of gendarmerie, was a valiant and efficient officer, who was always regarded as being very popular with his men, with whom he was an excellent surgeon. Both officers had returned that afternoon after a week's tour in Taiba district to west of Amadia and had telegraphed their affection to Mosul that everything was quiet.

3. The outbreak as far as can be ascertained has a definite anti-Christian, as well as anti-Government origin. Numbers of Christians in the neighbourhood have been murdered and many Christian villages have been pillaged.

4. A detachment of troops was urgently sent to Amadia to reinforce the reputation of Christians now at Taiba by restoring order in the district. It is a useful effort in both directions, but not widespread with our enemies last month, no positive was unsatisfactory from a military point of view.

5. It seems fairly clear that the two officers were killed by local gendarmerie at the instigation of local people, and that nearly all the leading Mohammedan notables are more or less concerned. It is yet to estimate probable effect of the outbreak on Kurdish communities in other portions of Mosul Vilayet, but there is every probability, unless drastic primitive measures are undertaken, similar outbreaks will occur elsewhere.

6. The Kurds in this area have been treated with great arbitrariness and gravity during the past eight months. Christians and Kurds alike have been given considerable advances in cash and in kind to enable them to rehabilitate themselves. The leading (if not only) Kurdish tribe has been amnestied for their misdeeds, and every attempt made to patch up a reconciliation between them and the Christians. The Kurd is notoriously treacherous, and this is the latest example of his natural propensity.

Summary of recent wires regarding Urumia situation.

On May 24th Packard (American Missionary Urumia)
reported fighting broken out between Kurds and Persians.
Former driven from town. Persians attempted to kill Packard and Ola(?)risse (French Missionary and Vice Consul) and massacred 200 Christians wounded 141. Meanwhile Persian Governor of Urumia reported Kurds causing trouble in neighbourhood. June 2nd Packard reported from Urumia 540 Christians under protection of Persian Governor. 250 killed and 86 missing.

Persian Governor of Tabriz consequent on receipt of rumours from Urumia June 2nd despatched 30 Persian soldiers with 2 guns to Urumia. On approaching Gulian Khanah these were fired on by Kurds and compelled to return Tabriz.
Reinforcements sent whose report awaited.

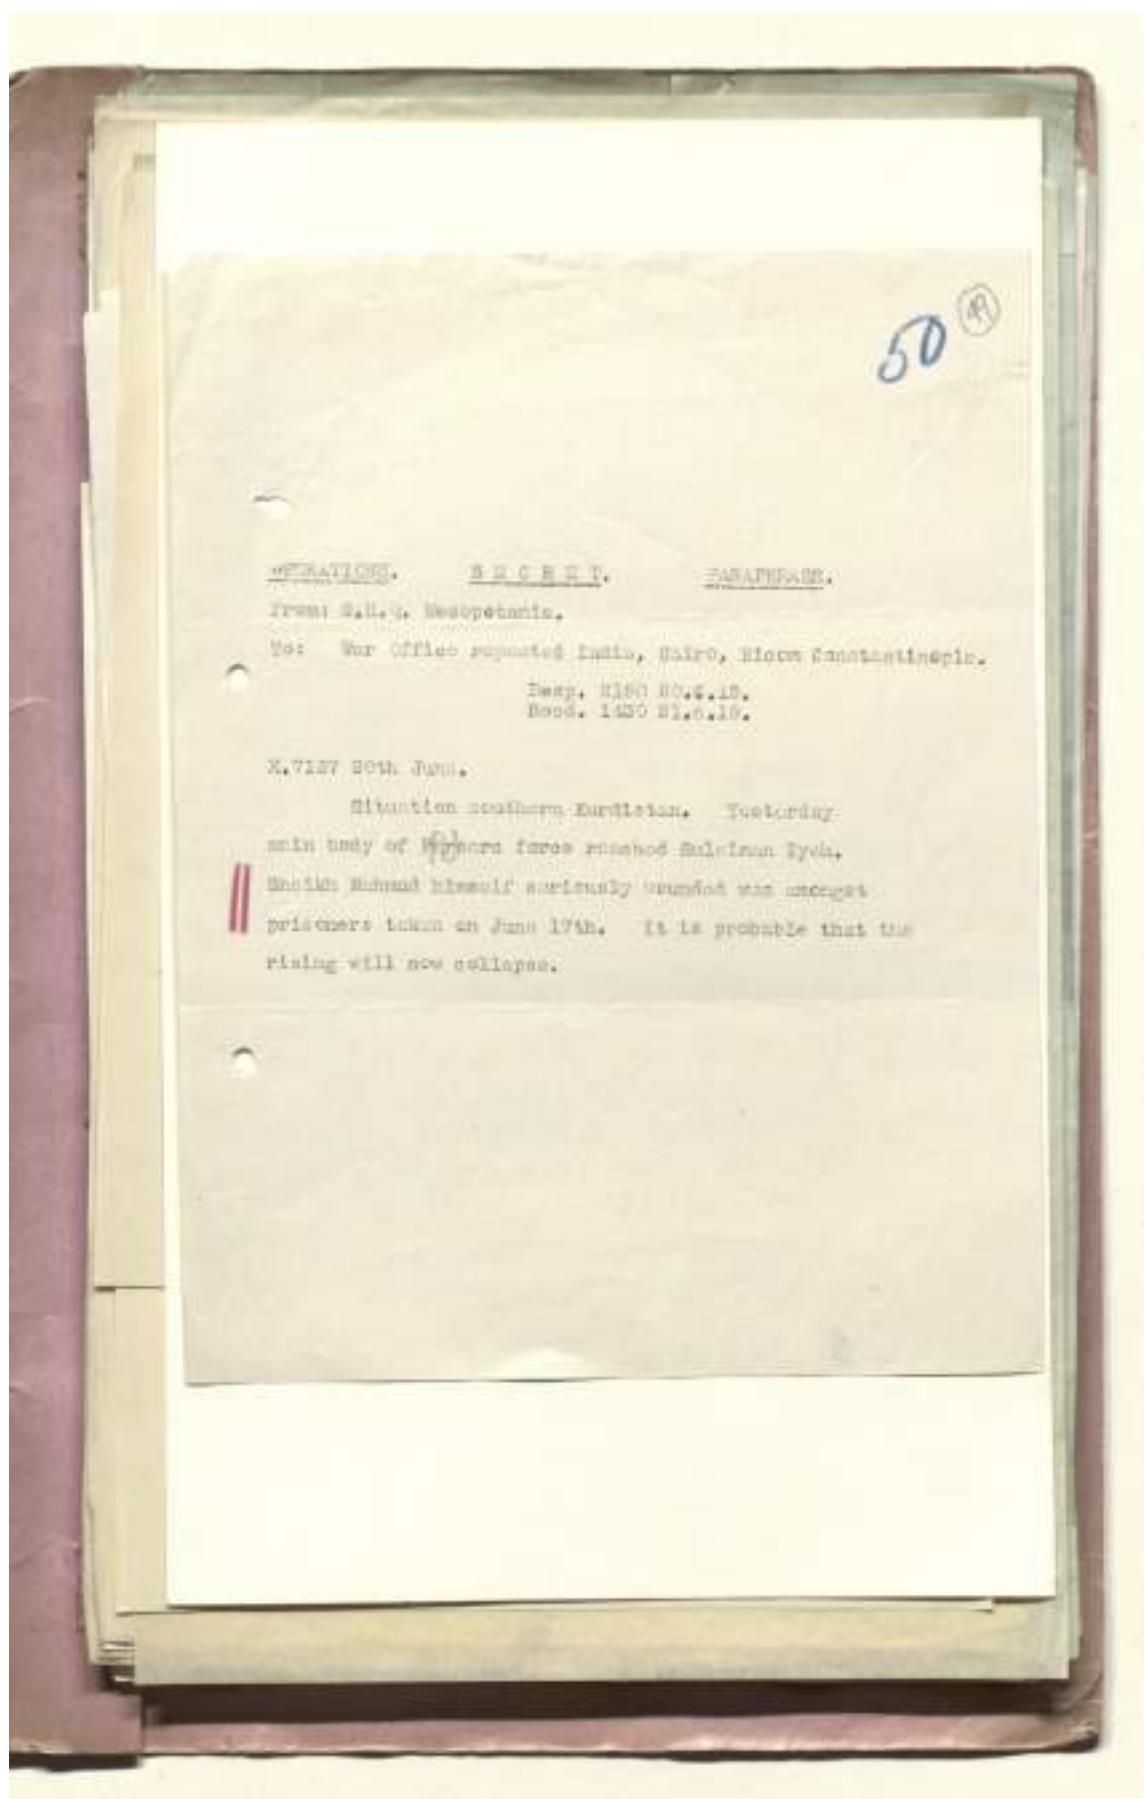

Sinke who is reported friendly to Christians is probably responsible for fighting between Kurds and Persians.
Bristow received very friendly letter from him June 9th.
In Salmas area situation quiet. June 7th American Consul Tabriz left for Salmas to see Sinke and bring back Christians who had fled from Urumia including Clariens and Packard. Good grounds to believe this mission will succeed. Bristow does not think Persians capable of dealing with Urumian situation.

As result of Urumian events Armenian and Syrian representatives Tabriz wired June 8th to President Wilson and Archbishop of Canterbury reporting massacres and

On June 17th General Fraser advanced towards Basyan Pass and at dawn June 18th captured pass which was defended by forces of Shaikh Mahmud's. This pass is 3,000 feet in height with surrounding hills 1,000 feet higher and in 1910 Kurds destroyed Turkish forces here. Not being accustomed to meet troops trained in mountain warfare Kurds lost several killed, over 100 prisoners, 3 machine-guns, some horses and other material. Our casualties were very slight, force continued advance after capture of Basyan pass and cavalry pushed on to Suleiman Iyeh in evening, where all prisoners were rescued. Remainder of force continuing advance expected to reach Suleiman Iyeh today.

No. ٩٧٤٩. Reference to your previous report on Turkestan rising. The open attacks on my touring establishments are so distinct and determined that only two policies can hold, to crush rebels and occupy Sulaiman River Valley permanently, secondly to negotiate with (irregulars) from this for release of prisoners and come to comparatively (but lasting) arrangement for the future. Islam and I are very averse to latter alternative. My available force is sufficient, but distance involved will strain transport severely which must be relieved at early date by approach of railway line from Kizilkut. Lines of Turkestan cannot be held and restored. The economic advantages of this line are as great as the military ones. In arranging to commence work as urgent military necessity ent here asked Sir Charles Deane if he can possibly spare me 100 miles of track or so much of my animal and motor transport has gone to India.

Addressed 2 Troopers and Chief of the General Staff, India reported to Secretary of State for India, London and Foreign Office.

Continuation my X. 7001 of 30th. The situation is now as follows. 15 officers and 6 M.C.O.s interned at Sulaimaniyah unhurt. By June last strong forces of all arms will be concentrated at Kirkuk, our reconnaissance force having driven back to Chumashmal which is held. At present British forces consist of considerable bodies of Kurds from Persia. It appears anxious and has asked for interview with Civil Commissioner but has been told that unless he sends the British prisoners in he can only interfere strongly. He seems to be likely to do this. Other tribes are waiting on events and Northern and Central Kurdistan are quiet. Wilson is arranging quarantine or attack on Mahmud from North-West with his contradictions. I now submit to Government definite points as to whether they wish Southern Kurdistan occupied by "state of nearly sufficiently contained to prevent spread of disturbance" to Mesopotamia. In the event of former I will occupy at once Sulaimaniyah and indicate improvement of required communication.
Probably these will entail immediate extension of metre gauge to Kirkuk in [ ] group unless alignment recommended by the Commissary is acting as will best maintain prestige and trust and extricate prisoners pending receipt of definite policy.

TOOK place. In Southern Kurdistan a serious rising has occurred. Dervishars have been defeated. Apparently British Officers and British troops have been taken prisoners and the wires cut at Sulaimaniyah. The movement which is headed by Sheikh Ahmad of latter place is due to Turkey's Kurdish intrigues and there is considerable threat of all Kurdistan including Persian Kurdistan being in a blaze. I have seized passes leading entrance to Sulaimaniyah plain with small detachment. A strong column is moving to Kirkuk from Sulaymaniyah. My immediate object is to impress European display of force and secure damping off places for giving effect to military and political policy which may appear necessary when situation crystallized. A detailed account of situation in its political aspect will be wired by the Civil Commissioner. Questions of maintenance are difficult as distances are considerable.

From Civil Commissioner, Bagdad, 12th May 1919.
(Revised from, Tokrov, Cteva, Constantinople. Copies to Aleppo and to General, Bagdad.)

(Received 13th, 2.30 a.m.)

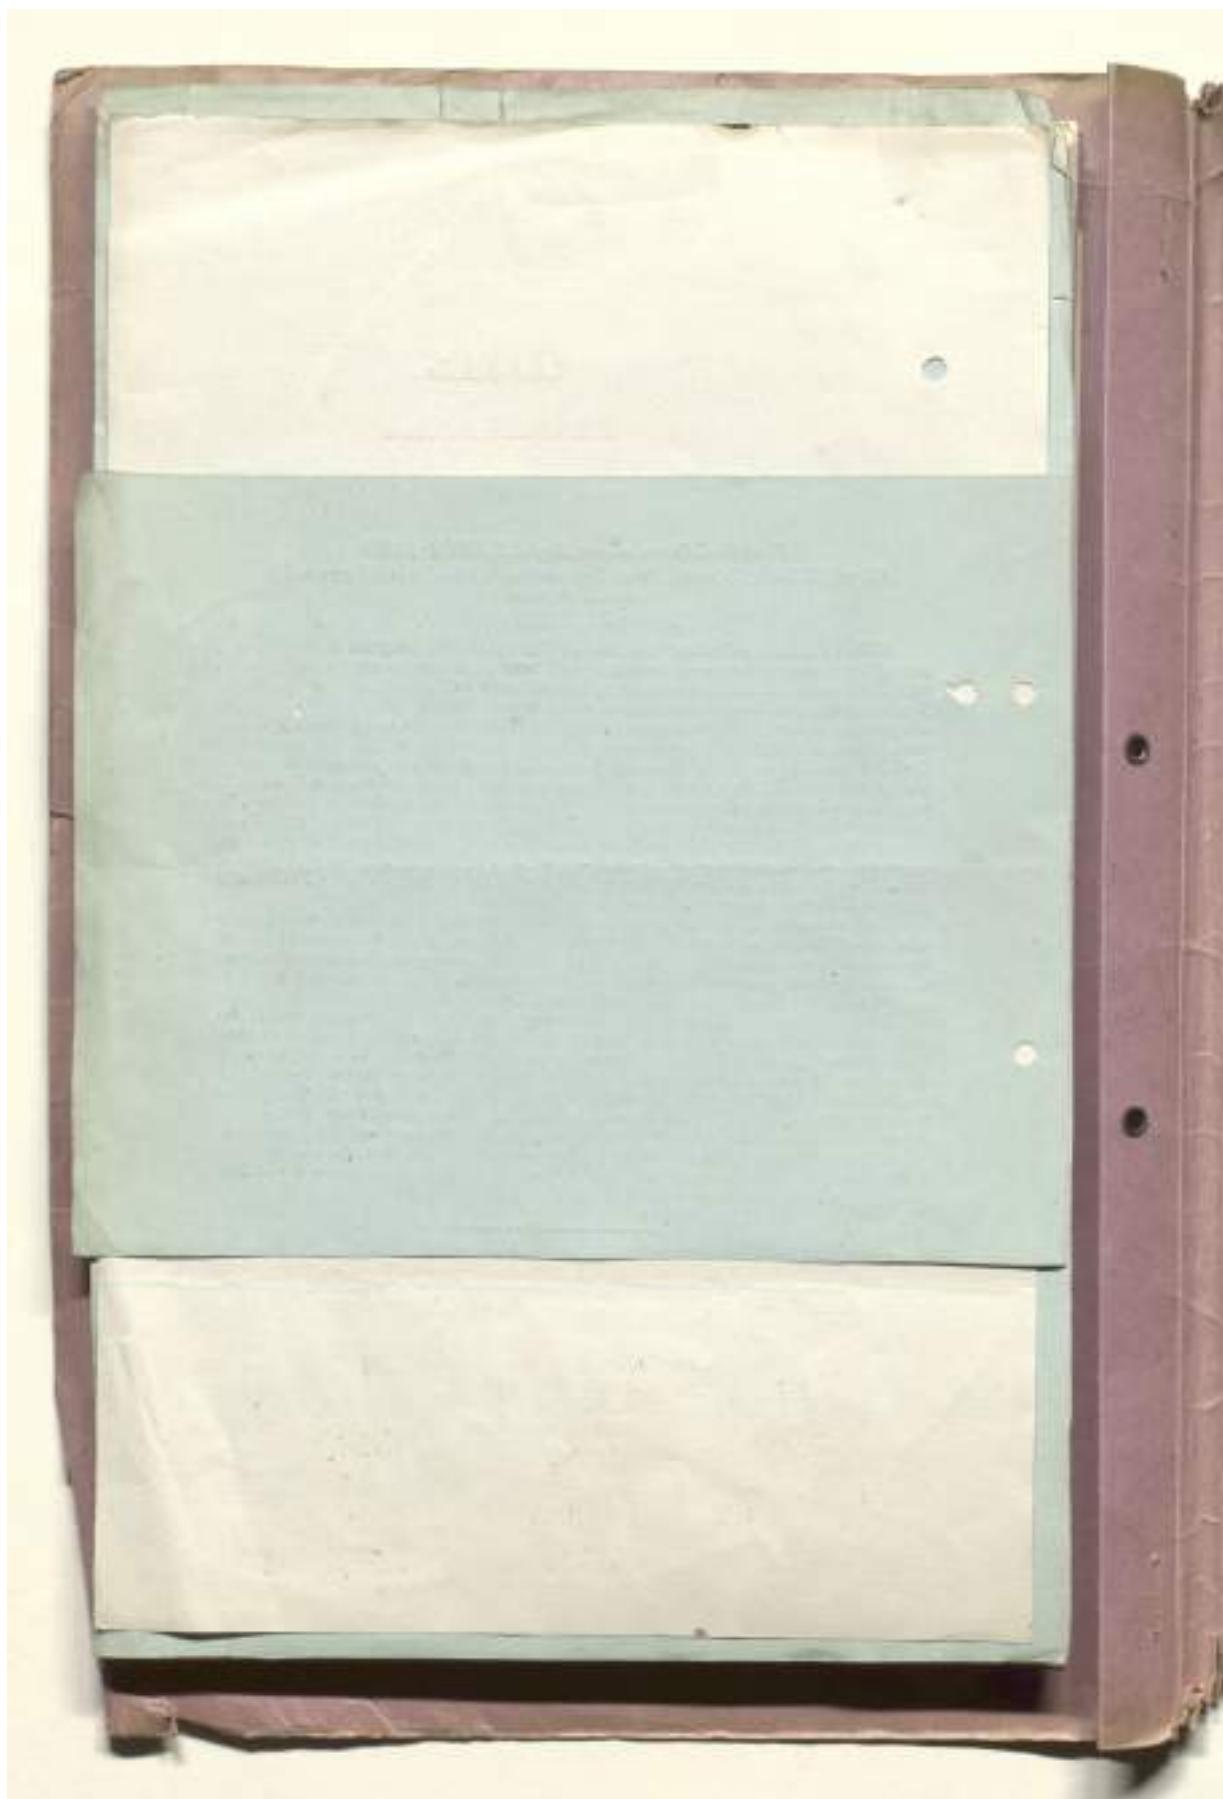

SSS. I submit following comment on Constantinople telegram of 1st May and proceeding correspondence —I have not had time since my return on 7th May to examine Kurdish situation so closely as I could wish at first, but, after studying Major Noel's report, and after a general discussion with Sheikh Tala (with no separate telegram), I endorse the views expressed by the High Commissioner, Constantinople. Abdil Qulin has been a king among Kurds and is on such bad terms with Sheikh Tala, that he will be of no use to us. I fear, unless he is prepared to restrict his activities to Kurdish areas west of longitude 42°. Long residence in Constantinople is a bad training for active work in Kurdistan, and it may be best to keep him in Constantinople and use him there. The Dahr Ekhaz family might be of immediate use on the spot. I suggest the brothers should be sent from Constantinople to meet Major Noel at Aleppo whom they may be joined by Surya from Egypt and passed with Major Noel on a mission to Western Kurdistan, if our relations with France and progress of the peace negotiations permit.

I recommend that we should adopt the third course proposed in Constantinople telegram of 1st May, and give full assurances of amity and friendliness from Armenian domination in arms predominantly Kurdish so far as ~~existing~~ <sup>Mosul</sup> ~~existing~~ <sup>and</sup> ~~possible~~ <sup>possible</sup> without, however, committing ourselves to acceptance of a mandate for Kurdish areas beyond the Mosul Vilayet till we see how affairs are moving.

To give effect to this policy it is necessary that Kurdish questions should be dealt with from a single centre as far as possible, and I therefore recommend that I be authorized to deal with the matter on behalf of His Majesty's Government in all areas east of the Euphrates, through Major Noel, keeping Egypt, Erme and Constantinople fully informed. I should make it my business to prevent this policy from drawing His Majesty's Government into any military commitments beyond our present sphere, and would make it clear to all concerned that the mission in question was not intended to commit His Majesty's Government to more than the maintenance of order in this area in co-operation with the Turkish authorities at the spot, pending result of the Paris Conference.

With reference to my No. R.1925 April 30th re retention of battalions and X. 1925 April 23rd re Mosul railway and A. 1925 May 1st re maintenance of Kuti-Eldamine line. Finding myself fully in accord with General Cobb's views as to ultimate possibilities of situation here and divergent location of possible storm-centres, I trust these measures may be approved and full consideration be given to the various requests re resignations in drafts of officers and men. I am impressed with the following points:-

1. Increasing unrest on Kurdish border.
2. Possibilities on Lower Euphrates as shown by recent unrest there.
3. Well armed state of tribes in Lower Mesopotamia.
4. Increase of banditism amongst the Ibn Hamed tribes.
5. Increasing intrigues by agents of Sharif and C.U.P.
6. Unsettling effect of events in Egypt and in India.
7. Infiltration state of several units in this force while under transition.

Without any suggestion that there is cause for alarm, the possibilities of the situation must not be disregarded.

I am of opinion after carefully considering the matter that the Int-al-Jamarah-Baghdad railway should not be pulled up until the Samawah - Hillah section of the Basrah-Baghdad railway has been completed.

My reasons are that the pulling up of this railway will be a bad move politically; it will certainly give rise to small local trouble but may also (granted) an impression of our withdrawal from the country. From a military point of view it means lengthening our communications by several days at a time when the river is at its lowest. To complete the Euphrates line the Director of Railways' minimum requirements are:- 100,000 sleepers and 100 miles of rails and fastenings complete not less than 50 pounds weight.

These should arrive during September or by October at latest.

Can these be supplied from India or elsewhere? If the material begins to arrive early September and is all received by the end of October the line will probably be through by end of November. General Macmillan concurs.

Laws of Commutation and etc.

1. I have not reviewed situation in Mesopotamia and visited large part of area under our control.

2. I find large accumulations of deschilled material requiring protection at present. There are some 20,000 P.C.T.'s mostly working in scattered areas and large bodies of foreign labour. Domestic labour working in districts on railway construction etc. I shall not be able therefore to return more than one of the fourteen battalions in May.

3. Number of battalions required will be cut down as speedily as possible as accumulations of material and P.C.T.s and other labour are reduced.

4. I am strongly of opinion that the 2 divisions and 2 Cavalry brigades forming the core of reorganization should be a complete mobile field army free of claim of responsibility for front, administrative duties and local protection of railway labour and P.C.T.'s having a mind general interests of Indians in Upper India and Mesopotamia.

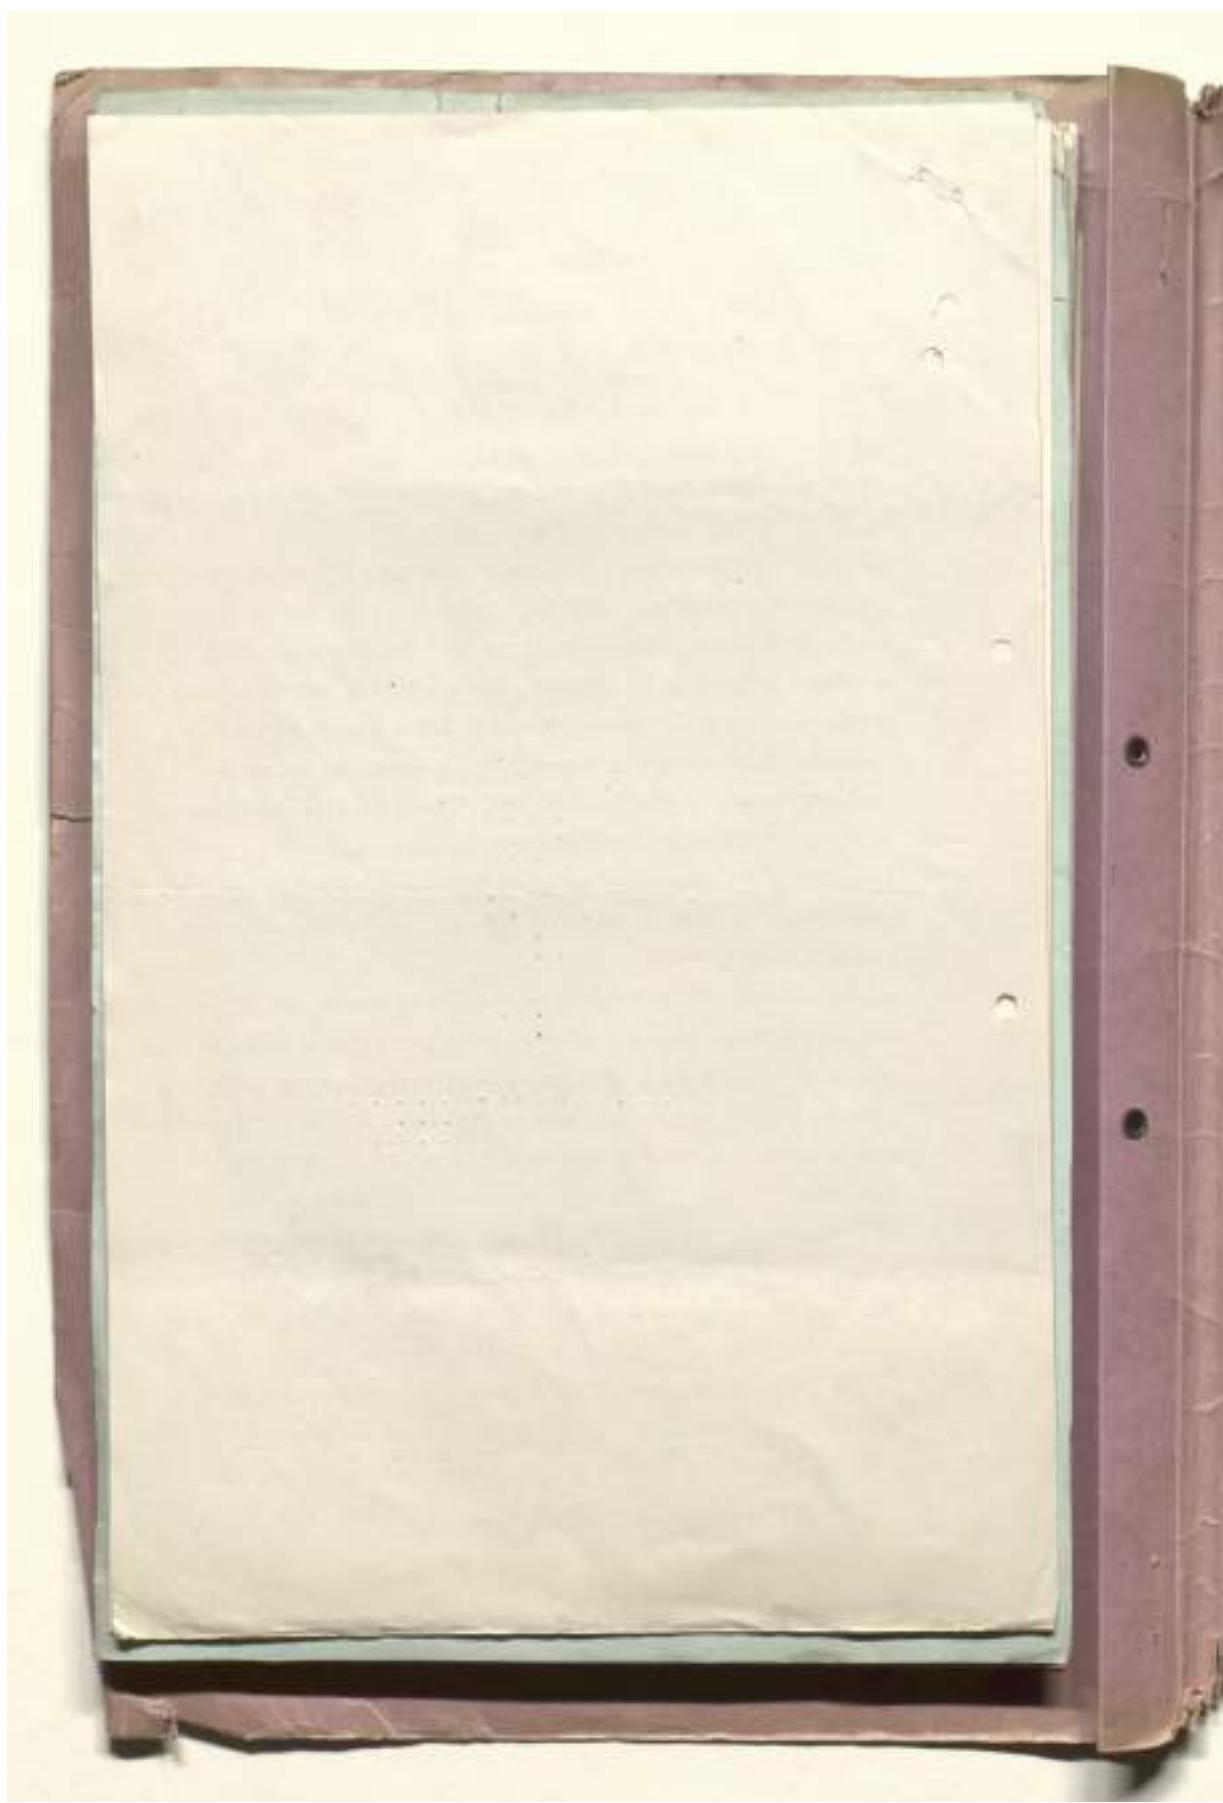

5. The large number of troops sent away from Europe in a short period has given rise to rumour of withdrawal and similar symptoms of recalcitrance in the lower squadron. This has been aggravated by arrival of additional troops there.

6. I am of opinion that arrival of this country must recruit sufficient battalions in addition to those formed for same considerable period to allow latter to be reliable and fit.

7. Also from Cavalry Brigade it is not practicable to send about the

Using 2 gradients and absence of water a light line to Mosul presents some difficulty and in such country such light material and locomotives as are available would be of no use. We shall therefore require 161 miles of track for 3'6" gauge with rails not lighter than 35 pounds per yard, 16 heavy locomotives capable of hauling 500 tons gross load at one per cent gradient, 22 single engines of 10 tons capacity preferably covered wagons, 10 brake vans of 10 tons each, and 10 travelling water tanks each 2,000 gallons capacity. We have no data for estimating accurately value of stores but approximate total cost not under £400,000. To estimate 12 months to reach mile 40 and 18 months in all to Mosul. Country is easy as far as mile 40 but difficult beyond. In view however of delay which must come in waiting for material and as it is essential to improve our communications with Mosul as early as possible I strongly recommend following alternative:- To pull up existing standard gauge Baghdad-Omsterdam line and substitute 3'6", for which the available material and rolling stock are suitable. Standard gauge material to be laid down as far as mile 40 which is 6 miles distant from the Tigris, with short branch line to our battalions on the Tigris at Elizabethtown. Sufficient standard gauge stock and engines are available for this proposal. From mile 40 propose to carry on 3'6" with new material when supplied. Under this scheme we shall only need 61 miles of 3'6" track 16 heavy locomotives as specified above, 22 engines, 10-mm break vans and 10 travelling water tanks. Cost of engines for pulling up Omsterdam line and re-laying to Elizabethtown is £47,500 and £200,000 for 3'6" line from mile 40 to Mosul. We should be able to reach Elizabethtown within 3 months of date of sanction which will be immense relief to road transport and in event of any emergency strengthen our position at Mosul. Saving in cost will be £30,000 as compared with first scheme. Above estimates of time and cost are based on German (?) method of which we have details. Further survey will of course be undertaken but Railways are doubtful if any easier route can be found for construction and survey to Elizabethtown and we shall have to employ officers earmarked for Persian survey. Our ability to construct beyond Elizabethtown depends on detention of officers and we are making proposals regarding this.

at Diarbekr and with Turkish authorities at beginning of March to organise Turkish troops and tribes in area of Diarbekr, Severuk, Urfa. Their object was to oppose the British advance imprisoned for disloyalty were accordingly released by the Turks. H.A. agreed to call up his and neighbouring tribes

Severuk. Milli are estimated at about 4000 rifles including

I very much appreciate anything which might interfere with their efficiency as I am dependent on R.A.F. for taking prompt action against troublesome tribesmen. Could a draft be sent early if no categories required can be given.

If this cannot be done could Air Board be asked to give assurances similar to yours in No. 7827 A.O.L. March 1919, that early in the autumn this class of personnel will be relieved. Aviation Baghdad in his D.P. 50 March 29th has already issued 2044. Following for Iksim, Jazira. For the past three weeks we have been receiving reports of anti-British and anti-Christian disturbances in Kurdish tribal areas to the north of Mosul Vilayet. These reports have been duly communicated to the Commissioner, Kurdistan, where the headquarters of the movement are. Local opinion is against the British here. On Friday 5th, political, Mosul, reported that members of Christians had started in Deyan country 20 miles north of Iksim. Report was subsequently found much exaggerated, but disturbances had undeniably taken place. On 6th April, Capt. Farman, A.P.C. Mosul, who was proceeding from Iksim, where he had established outposts to maintain order, with 250 (different from 5th) to Sami, was attacked and killed at a village called Karmar. One of these robbers very unreliable and Russell's sheet 26 shows road 20 miles north-north-east Iksim. Political Mosul, describes 250 as within our area and only goes from it to Hamed road near Karmar, which is admittedly outside our limits. Presently, however, clause 26 includes terms would cover Farman's action. General Headquarters here are unable to take any military action, but have pressed Egypt forces to expedite occupation of Jazira. London considers that armistice could effectively (one day's strafing) but strongly urges that this should be done even at cost of infringement of the frontier. Felling other means, he also advocates tribal action by Ainji and Silwan tribes, although sections of latter are certainly in our area. I share his views up to absolute necessity of punitive action if trouble is to be kept from (expanding). Delay in the despatch of this telegram due to absence on account of sickness.

Addressed to Iksim; repeated to Teheran.

To deal with local disturbances in widely dispersed territories heavy demands are necessary on resources. As this is likely to continue request that number 65 squadrons be brought up to 4 flights. I require complete flight personnel and 8 pilots to do this. Further request early despatch with a month's supply of spares of 20 U.S.A.F.'s or similar type of machine.
