

Story

Written by Azad Karimi

A is an enemy of B.

C is an enemy of B.

A is not a neighbor to B.

A is not a neighbor to C.

B is a neighbor to C.

B has a fish breeding pond in his house.

A wants to harm B materially, but he can't because he can never approach B's house because everyone knows that A and B intend to fight and clash if they come close to each other due to their long enmity.

A teaches C to fish.

Because B and C are neighbors and have a common wall, so if C goes on this common wall, others will not be too sensitive because they give C or B the right to walk or sit on the common wall between them sometimes.

Using this mode, A teaches C to fish so that he can go to the common wall in the dark of the night throw the fishing hook into the pond, and catch fish.

This causes a conflict between B and C, and the differences between them increase, and once C kills B's child with his fishing hook wire.

Meanwhile, A declares that I kiss C's hand and say congratulations to him, but whoever says that I am guilty is wrong because I taught C JUST to fish. Yes! Maybe this justification is correct when A and B do not have long enmity. But A is a basic part of the story. Anyway, with all the love and feelings of intimacy that I have for the country and the people of Israel, I cannot make decisions for them because I have a long-standing enmity with A, and if I want to turn them against A in this matter, maybe others will blame me and say that you are using this story to your advantage and hit A.

Of course, I personally prefer to knock him out with a boxing punch right now because he is an old- thieving-paralyzed Skunk who holds the oil money of the Iranian nation, and with one paralyzed hand and one contaminated hand from this wealth, he steals and gives it to people like C to fight with his neighbor, B, and harm him.

Of course, because I have suffered damage from A, I don't care about other people's opinions if they say why I hate her. Maybe A is giving them some of the money he stole from me and that's why they don't like me trying to destroy A. But exactly I will destroy A so that my property will be returned and others who blame me to be shut up because I hate them too, because they support A.

I wish C the best of luck and he is my friend and brother even if he doesn't consider me his brother and friend. But the important point is that A is my enemy and enemy of C and the enemy of humanity.

Unfortunately, A has friends who have seized the vital arteries of humanity to commit the dirtiest evils and ugliness and theft through legal papers but with illegal intentions in the name of fighting colonialism.

But the important thing is that I have appeared to change this inhuman, unjust, and oppressive situation. Therefore, the enmity of human agents of any kind is unimportant to me because the greatest power that no one can imagine supports me. What my enemies are doing is pure filth, but they are lumps of flesh molded on the ugliest spirits, and there is no sense or wisdom in them. They are hellish zombies that have come out of the grave but are destined to return to hell soon because their time is short and we are at the end of it. The day after them, the world is free from their pollution. I promise you. But you have to clean your heart from pollution and fear. I tell the truth. believe it!
